AIR Control Concepts Acquires Midwest Mechanical Solutions

Norfolk, VA – December 6, 2024: Today, AIR Control Concepts ("AIR") announces the acquisition of Midwest Mechanical Solutions ("MMS"), a leading commercial HVAC manufacturers' representative serving multiple states across the Northern Midwest.

"We are thrilled to announce our new partnership with Midwest Mechanical Solutions," said Brad Hobbs, Founder and CEO of AIR Control Concepts. "The team at MMS brings a wealth of expertise in the Minnesota, North Dakota, and Wisconsin markets, expanding AIR's growing capabilities in commercial HVAC sales, service, and parts to the Midwest."

This latest expansion into new markets exemplifies the company's ongoing commitment to growth, collaboration, and the preservation of local independent legacies.

"MMS is beyond excited to begin this new chapter in our company's storied history. By combining our collective experience with other AIR operating companies across the country, we believe we will find innovative ways to better serve our customer partners while still maintaining the unique culture our local team members have created over the past several decades," said Bret Riemenschneider, President of Midwest Mechanical Solutions. "We're looking forward to the opportunities this new partnership will bring to the entire MMS team."
